

EDINBORO UNIVERSITY

ALSTONE LECTURE SERIES

FALL 2017

SEP.
07

Jean Jones, PhD
"Rigoberta Menchu and the Politics of Guatemala"
Recently retired from EU, Professor Jones taught in the Department of Communications and Media, and was the director of the Honors Program.

SEP.
14

Robert Rhodes, PhD
"A Polarized Nation At Risk and What We Can Do About It"
Robert Rhodes is an Emeritus Professor of Political Science.

OCT.
05

Brian Zimmerman, PhD
"Edinboro Lake and Efforts to Restore Water Quality"
Professor Zimmerman is chair of the Geosciences Department and president of the Edinboro Lake Watershed Association.

OCT.
12

Jim Fisher, PhD
"In the Womb, But Out in the World; Talking 'Fetuses' in American Popular Culture"
Professor Fisher teaches Constitutional Law in the Political Science Department.

OCT.
19

Elisabeth Joyce, PhD
"Wikipedia Fans"
Professor Joyce conducts research in two disciplines: literary criticism and online communities. She is the author of two books on literary criticism.

OCT.
26

Sr. Anne McCarthy (OSB)
"The Nonviolent Journey"
Sister Anne McCarthy holds a MA in Theology from St. John's University in monastic studies. For the last ten years, she has lead retreats in many communities on themes of nonviolence and the journey from fear to love.

Lectures begin at 9:30 am on Thursdays in the Diebold Center for the Performing Arts, or in the auditorium of Reeder Hall, on the campus of Edinboro University. The environment is friendly and encourages dialogue rather than a lengthy talk. The program is free and open to the public.

Lectures are given by retired and active faculty in the area as well as individuals with special expertise.

Parking is available for lecture attendees in the Reeder Hall parking lot behind the Diebold Center from 8:00 am -12:30 pm. Non-campus parking may be found on surrounding streets.

EDINBORO UNIVERSITY

edinboro.edu